

How to use Atelier Pouring Medium

1. Choose your acrylic paint colours. They need to be a runny consistency - if it's too thick, add tap water to thin the paint. Place each colour in a disposable cup.
2. Add Atelier Pouring Medium.
(As a general rule, 1/4 cup of pouring medium is required to 1 cup of paint).
3. Add 3-4 drops of silicone oil and mix slowly.
4. For a dirty pour, combine your colours into 1 cup but do not mix.
5. Sit your canvas on top of the cup and turn over. Gradually remove your cup and tilt your board so the paint covers the area.

6. For a clean pour, pour colours directly onto your board (on top of each other) and tilt the board to cover it.
*Works best with Atelier Free Flow or Chromocryl Fluid Concentrate.
7. Use a butane torch to release the cells on your artwork.

8. Leave your artwork in a clean, level and elevated space to dry.
9. This may take 1-2 days to cure depending on environmental factors.
